$2,000 BURGLARY STAGED LAST NIGHT

TOWNSEND WHOLESALE GROCERY BROKEN INTO

UNCERTAIN AS TO TIME

Haul of Cigarettes and Tobacco Made —Believed to Be a Clean Get Away

Sometime after closing time yesterday evening the Townsend Wholesale Grocery Co. was burglarized and cigarettes and tobacco to the value of from $2,000 to $2,500 were taken. Entrance to the building was secured through a south basement window. This window was protected by double iron bars which were torn from their place. A telephone wire to the Cummins and Wray Furniture Co. which entered the building by the window was either cut or broken.

So far it has been impossible to tell at just what time the robbery occurred. Many different opinions have been given but the most probable version follows:

J. B. Cummins, of the Cummins and Wray store put in a long distance call from his store shortly after 8 o'clock last night. He waited some time for the call to go through. Finally he tried to call central but could get no response. This would indicate that the telephone connection was broken sometime between 8:30 and 9 o'clock. If the line was cut or broken when the men entered the Townsend Store then they must have gotten in before 9 o'clock.

Now on the other hand, when the employees of the Townsend store came to work this morning they found the rear door to the store open. The burglars had carried the stolen stuff to this door and out to some sort of vehicle. This is reasonably sure because one carton of Camel cigarettes was left by the door.

But, Frank McKee, the night watchman says that he tried this door after 2 o'clock this morning and found it locked. He also says that at 5:20 o'clock when he went to turn off the light in the alley that the door did not attract his attention as to being open.

So the only certain thing is that the merchandise is gone. Probably no one but the thieves themselves know how many were in the party, or what time they broke into the store, or whether it was local talent or foreigners.

The merchandise taken as estimated by F. M. Townsend of the Wholesale Co. was twenty-five or more cases of Camel cigarettes valued at around $70 a case; six cases of Prince Albert tobacco and a number of cases of Star tobacco. A small amount of candy was also taken. Whether anything else is missing is not known.

The case is in the hands of the county officials who have notified the police in adjoining cities. A detective from St. Joseph arrived in Maryville at noon today to work on the case.

Sheriff Steve A. Roach expressed it as his opinion this morning that it was a clean get away. He said that in a case of this kind the cases, which have the name of the whole sale company on them, would be removed and burned. Then the cartons could be disposed of without danger of detection, once the burglars get to a place of hiding with them. The Camel cigaret being an unusually staple article the burglar has no trouble in disposing of it. Robberies of this kind are oc common occurrence, according to the sheriff, for this reason.

It is Sheriff Roach's opinion that the robbery happened early in the evening, as mauraders would figure that at that time no notice would be made of a car or truck stopping or anyone carrying boxes, at a time of day when there is much traffic on the streets.

SCHOOL DAY TO BE BIG AFFAIR

MUCH INTEREST MANIFESTED THROUGHOUT COUNTY

PICKERING H. S. COMING

To be Competative Stunts in the Evening—Douglas Getting Ready

The indications are that the Nodaway County Sschool day to be held in Maryville October 11, will be one of the biggest school events ever put on in the county. C. F. Remus, J. R. Lowry and E. C. Curfman, Chamber of Commerce committee that is working among the business men of Maryville for the purpose of raising money to finance the undertaking, say that they have found a marked interest in the proposition. Many persons have expressed themselves as believing it will be one of the best of the good things that have been carried out in the county in the past few years. They think the idea of having it an exceptionally good one.

And it is not from the Maryville business men alone that the expressions of favor are coming. They are from the schools about over the county as well. A number of the schools have signified their intention of having floats and have made inquiries as to what they are to have. The Douglas School sent in today to get material for the purpose of making its float.

The floats are for the grammar schools only, but there will be something for the high schools as well. It will be held in the evening. J. N. Geyer, superintendent of schools at Pickering, called the office of the Chamber of Commerce this morning and said that the high school at that place would put on a stunt. The Pickering high school is the first to "put its hat in the ring," as the saying goes.

There will be a prize for the best stunt put on by a high school and Pickering will be a contender for this

Following is the general committee for the school day.

YAPLE SIGNED 15 MEN AT BURL. JCT. FOR BATTERY

Plan to Raise Quota for Service Organization at Junction, With Exception of Band

Lee Yaple of the Yaple hardware store at Burlington Junction said last night that he started yesterday morning signing men up for the Burlington Junction division of the Service Battery of the 128th Regiment of the Missouri National Guard and that he already had fifteen men on the list. He hopes to secure thirty or forty men. A part of the service battery is the band and it is the plan to make the rest of it up from among the boys at Burlington Junction. It is the plan to raise the band at some other place in the county.

Rolf Raynor, first lieutenant of Battery C which has been organized at Maryville, was in Burlington Junction last night talking over with Mr. Yaple the battery situation.

LARGE CROWD AT BURL. JCT. PICNIC

CAME MOSTLY AFTER SERVING OF SUPPER.

R. E. DAVIES SPEAKS

Pays Compliment to Kinnaird—Organization Does $100,000 Worth of Business.

Several hundred people attended last night at Burlington Junction the picnic of the Burlington Junction Live Stock Shippers Association. The big drawing feature of the picnic was the showing of the hog worm films of the farm bureau and the agriculture film of the Chamber of Commerce.

The picnic was held on a vacant lot at the home of Knox Alexander in the northeast part of Burlington Junction. It began with a basket supper, served by the wives and daughters of the members of the shippers' association. The attendance for the supper was not large but those who did not get there for it missed a lot for there was fried chicken, salad, cake and all the things that go to make up a good picnic meal.

The crowd began assembling after the supper and shortly before 8 o'clock R. E. Davies of the Farm Bureau Commission Company of St. Joseph was introduced by Roy A. Kinnaird and made a talk.

Mr. Davies told of the work that the farm bureau is trying to do through its system of co-operative buying and through giving attention to the grade of feeds that are purchased. He said that the farm bureau did not have as its mission that of running the business man out of business. On the other hand he said, the bureau felt that the business man was entitled to a reasonable profit on his goods. He said, however, that the bureau believed that the farmer is entitled to buy where he can get the most satisfaction for his money and that for that reason the buying and selling is done.

Mr. Davies at the close of his talk paid a high compliment to Roy A. Kinnaird, county farm agent for Nodaway County. He said that he knew all the county agents of the state and that Mr. Kinnaird is the most careful, conservative and reliable one that Missouri has. He said that the county agent of his own county, Buchanan, would fully agree with him in this statement.

The hog worm films tell an interesting story of the hog worm and weave in a little fiction regarding what was done on a farm of a man who could not understand why he could not succeed with his hogs. The Chamber of Commerce films met with the usual good interest which is taken in them.

Bob Tobin, manager of the association, announced at the close of the run of the films that the association would hold another picnic next spring.

The Burlington Junction Live Stock Shippers Association, which is carried on as one of the branches of the farm bureau in Nodaway County, has done $100,000 worth of business during a little more than a year that it has existed, according to Bob Tobin. At the report made at the meeting early in the year the volume of the business had reached $70,000 and considerable has been done since that time, although the time from now until the first of the year is when the volume is carried on.

The association was organized, the members say, for the purpose of cutting out the middle man in the shipment of the live stock and in the purchase of things that the farmers need. Cattle, hogs and sheep are turned over to Manager Tobin and he consigns them to the Farm Bureau Commission Company at St. Joseph. The stock is sold and the price less the shipping charges is turned over to the owner.

In the purchasing that the association makes the buys have all been in coal and feed. Much feed was shipped in last winter and coal has already been ordered for this year.

The association started off with a small membership and at the present has increased to approximately 175 members. The board of directors are as follows: George Westfall, chairman, Ralph Yates, T. J. Tobin, Clarence Headrick, Luther Fast, Clarence Miller, Frank D. Walker.

The members are well pleased with the association and feel that it has been a saving to them, in spite of the fact that a fire at Burlington Junction last winter destroyed $1,000 worth of feed for the association.

CHICKEN THIEVES MADE HAUL AT CHARLES FENNEL FARM

They Were Conspicuous by Their Absence When the Owner Got up This Morning

More than 100 chickens were stolen last night from Charles Fennel, living southeast of Burlington Junction. Mr. Fennel said today that he did not know what time the chickens were stolen nor does he have any trace of when they were taken or who took them. All that he knows is that they were in the chicken house when he went to bed and that they were conspicuous by their absence when he got up.

Sheriff Steve A. Roach was notified of the loss this morning.

RURAL SCHOOLS START OFF WELL

INDICATIONS ARE, WILL BE RECORD ATTENDANCE

GRANT VISITATION DAY

Many Improvements Are Found by County Superintendent as He Makes His Round

The rural schools of Nodaway County have started off in a satisfactory fashion, according to Leslie G. Somerville, county superintendent, and the indications are that the attendance will be the largest that it has ever been. Reports from a large number of the districts show in all cases that there is an increase in enrollments over that of last year. In the case of the two mentioned the enrollment is just the same that it was last year. Basing his estimate on the reports that have been made Mr. Somerville believes the increase.

Three of the boards have taken up the matter of a visitation day and have granted their teachers a 1-day leave to visit some other school, in accord with the discussion that was made at the meeting of the school boards held in Maryville before the opening of the schools. The three schools are: Barnes, John Jane, teacher; Unity, Miss Beulah Russell, teacher, and Gaynor, Miss Eulalia Kysar, teacher.

The visiting will be done under the direction of the county superintendent, who will work out a definite arrangement for it later on.

In making his visits during the past two weeks Mr. Somerville has found that more improvements have been made during the past summer in the rural schools than are usually made. Following are the improvements that he found:

Risser School, Helen Naill, teacher, new blinds, plastering board ceiling.

Mapel Grove School, Mrs. W. L. Bird, teacher; painted all buildings, varnished woodwork, built porch and work room, new blinds, heating and ventilating plant.

Unity School, Beulah Russell, teacher; have shingled roof, painted room, new blinds, built garage and kindling room, six kindergarten chairs, oiled floor, built one new sanitary toilet.

Hickory Grove School, Oma Bancroft, teacher; have added new teachers desk.

Independence School, Merle Simpson, teacher; built new sanitary toilets and shingled house.

Fairview School, Ruth Miller, teacher; have painted desks and windows.

Prairie Flower School, David Nicholson, teacher; painted room.

Mt. Vernon School, Grace Hall, teacher; painted outbuildings, cement well curb, slate blackboard.

Lone Star School, Zola Dowis, teacher; painted all buildings, added new globe

Oak Grove School, Cleola Dowis, teacher; papered room, new toilets, painted outbuildings.

Gaynor School, Eualalia Kysar, teacher; painted room.

There are many other improvements in the rural schools that Mr. Somerville will note as he continues with his round of the county.

JUDGE SUSTAINS TEMPORARY WRIT

IS MOST IMPORTANT DECISION EVER HANDED LABOR.

TO U. S. SUPREME COURT

American Federation Attorneys Begin Action at Once to go to Higher Authority.

Chicago, Sept. 13.—The most important decision ever handed down to organized labor came in the federal court when Judge James H. Wilkerson today sustained the temporary writ of injunction secured by the government against the striking rail workers. In making the government's injunction permanent the law was clearly laid down that the leaders of the nation-wide strike are responsible for the acts of violence resulting from their calling the strike.

Simultaneously with the judge's decision attorneys for the defense, acting in the behalf of the American Federation of Labor, started to work to carry the case through to the United States Supreme Court to settle definitely the righteousness of such injunctions which restrains the striking shopmen from interferring with the operations of the trains which would amount to obstruction of the mails and shipments of interstate commerce.

MAKE RECOMMENDATIONS FOR IMPROVEMENT OF ALBANY JAIL

Judge Dawson Returns this Morning from Holding Court There Convenes Here Monday

Judge John M. Dawson returned this morning from Albany where he has been holding court for the past two weeks. During this term of court a grand jury was called and several indictments and one or two true bills were returned. In the report of the jury, as given in the Albany Capital, the Gentry County jail, from which place three prisoners recently escaped, a number of recommendations for safer and more sanitary conditions were made. The jury also found that Sheriff Dale Brown, "had been criminally negligent in looking after the duties of his office" and further recommended that "guards of honor and character beyond question" be kept at the jail until the prisoners will be delivered to Jefferson City.

Judge Dawson will convene court here Monday.

ST. JOSEPH LEADS END 1ST HALF

SCORE 2 TO 0 AGAINST THE BEARCATS.

WAS MADE ON SAFETY

Some Changes During the Two Quarters—Russell E. Sprong the Referee.

The first half of the opening game of the season for the Bearcats of the Stat eTeachers College was over at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon and the score stood 2 to 0 in favor of the St. Joseph Central boys, among whom there were some men from the Junior High School of St. Joseph. The two points were made seven minutes before the end of the half on a safety. At the end of the half the ball was on Maryville's 25-yard line. At the end of the first quarter the ball was near the middle of the field.

Following is the lineup for Maryville: Center, Kirby; guards, Barkley and Graham; tackles, Messmer and England; ends, Mapel and Steiger; halfbacks, Wilson and Miller, quarter back, Beck, and fullback, Foreman.

During the first half Akers was run in for England, Young for Steiger and Leech for Mapel.

The St. Joseph team arrived in Maryville today on the noon train. The coach, Anton Stankowski, brought twenty men with him, nine of this number being letter men from last year.

The Central boys are not as heavy as was expected, their line averaging somewhere between 160 and 170 pounds to the man and the backfield ranging somewhat less.

The men who made the trip from St. Joseph are: Eddie Stever, Billie Stever, Frank French, Jim Kapp, Burnie Schaff, Bob Russ, Harry Darnell, Alfred Johnson, Wesley Cramer, Bob Schmaltz, George Collins, Peter Jackson, "Cotton" Gore, Tom Richmond, Charles Weakley, Jim Houston, Harold Eshleman, Vollie Luttringer and Emmett Stuber.

Russell E. Sprong is refereeing the game. Nothing need be said about the 220 pounder who coached the Bearcats last year. He is well known to all the athletic fans of Maryville. This year Mr. Sprong is coach of the Freshman team at the University of Kansas. He has a strong team and in scrimmage against the Kansas varsity he has put a 220 pound line in the game.

TRIPS AROUND THE WORLD.

Four hundred years have passed since Magellan circumnavigated the globe. His remarkable accomplishment, however is seldom mentioned in the United States, although his discovery should be of special interest to us since our flag now floats over the Philippines where he landed.

The story of Magellan's voyage is interesting. Setting out in 1519 and coasting along South America, he penetrated the strait that now bears his name, then entered the Pacific, and, sailing diagonally, arrived on March 16, 1521, at Cebu, a city in the Philippines.

Here Magellan became a close friend of a treacherous native sovereign Zebu, who cleverly professed Christianity to please his Catholic friends. Heading an expedition to conquer the island for the Catholic faith and the king of Cebu, Magellan was killed by the islanders on April 27, 1521.

Trips are now being made around the world in a few weeks. The railroad and steamship have made such trips for business, entertainment, and educational purposes matters of every-day occurrence.

At this time, however, it is of special interest for aviators, and persons interested in aviation, to bear in mind the first trip around the world. Before many days some aviator will circle the globe, an in so doing will show what modern science has accomplished since Magellan's memorable voyage.—Columbia Missourian.

CONGRESS ADJOURNS.

Congress adjourned yesterday and thus ending the first session of the most useless and inefficient congress in the memory of the present generation. Most of the members are hurrying back home to ask the people for re-election. There may be individual exceptions but, as a body, there is no possible reason for a continuance of the present membership of Congress. It has been totally deficient in constructive ability and in appreciation of the nation's needs. From a great legislative body of patriotic statesmanship Congress has degenerated into a bunch of peanut politicians with political expediency as their highest ideal of national service. Both republicans and democrats alike agree that the Congress as a whole and as an average has reached the lowest ebb in many years, if not in the history of the Government.

Last year the apple raising sections of Missouri lost money because of the light crop. This year they are losing money because of the heavy crop and lack of transportation.

That the world loves a winner was evidenced Thursday when the St. Louis Browns dropped another game to Washington. Two days before, when the pennant race was still in the balance, thirty thousand people crowded into the ball grounds to boost and encourage their favorites in the decisive game against New York. When St. Louis put up a game fight and lost a close game, the fans were broken hearted and the Browns were depressed. That's when a fellow needs a friend, but Thursday, when the Browns lost a second game to Washington, a second division team, the small crowd turned their boots to catcalls and derisive yells. It is easy to get help when you are at the top because the world loves a winner and has little use for a loser or a quitter. When a man is down, he must furnish his own pep and his own steam and he must have the metal in him.

NEWS OF THE CON. CON.

News of the Constitutional Convention written by J. S. Hubbard, Executive Secretary of the Missouri Press Association.

Jefferson City, Sept. 21—An amendment to the legislative report providing an enabling act for compensation insurance and state insurance under such a law was considered by the convention Wednesday morning. The amendment which would make a new section, provides that, "The general assembly may enact and provide for the administration of a compulsory or elective workmen's compensation law, and may provide for state or other systems of insurance thereunder."

The proponents urged that the constitutional convention make this provision, since the general assembly had considered it impossible to enact such laws under the old constitution. They stated that there were now forty-three other states having workmen's compensation acts on the statute books, and Missouri ought not to postpone longer favorable action on this question. Opposition developed to the insurance provision of the proposal, but much interest was shown in support of the first part of the proposition. It was discussed at length by several of the members, most of whom favored the compensation act.

After extensive debate the proposal in regard to limiting the legislature in conferring special powers to miscellaneous boards, bureaus and associations, was voted down Tuesday 32 to 17. In the arguments favoring the amendment were mentioned the plumbing inspection board, board of barbers' examiners, board of optometry and state board of nurses' examiners as being among the privileged organizations to which had been delegated legislative powers. It was charged that special requirements had been set up by these boards that barred the door of opportunity to many deserving young men and women of the state. While the proposal was lost members have given notice that it will be brought up again, in substance at least, and may be considered in connection with the report of the Committee on Executive and Ministerial Departments. It is contended that this report will take care of these miscellaneous boards in a way that will be entirely satisfactory to the proponents of the defeated amendment.

Two provisions of the Committee on Corporations report have not been covered in this correspondence. One is a modification of Section 10 in the old constitution and provides that "No corporation shall issue preferred stock without the consent of those owning and holding at least two-thirds of the stock of such corporation." The two-thirds provision is new.

The text of the new Section 12 provides that "It shall not be lawful for any common carrier in this state to charge or receive any greater compensation in the aggregate for the transportation of passengers or like kind of property for a shorter than for a longer distance over the same line, in the same direction, the shorter being included within the longer distance, or to charge any greater compensation as a through rate than the aggregate of the intermediate rates; provided, that upon application to the proper state rate regulatory body, such common carrier may, in special cases, after investigation by said body be authorized to charge less for longer than for shorter distances for the transportation of passengers and property, and the said state regulatory body may from time to time prescribe the extent to which such designated common carrier may be relieved from the operation of this section. But excursion and commutation tickets may be issued at special rates."

This revision section is in accord with the provisions of the federal transportation act, which now controls in all rate matters.

In the letter of Aug. 18, reference was made to the speech of Judge R. E. Culver in regard to the estimated saving of the new judiciary system as compared with the old. In abolishing the probate courts and justices of the peace and the reduction of the number of circuits from 38 to 15, it was estimated that the amount saved would be $475,500, while against this was placed the new county courts, additional judges of the supreme court and court of appeals, estimated at from $312,500 to $375,000. This made a saving in one case of $163,000 and in the other of $100,500, according to the figures submitted.

On Sept. 19, in an exhaustive discussion of the committee report and the amendments it suggests, which were reported last week, Paul S. Conwell of Kansas City took exceptions to the figures quoted and gave a list of estimates which included the restoration of the justice courts. He contended that the stenographers, clerks and bailiffs, which Judge Culver claimed could be dispensed with, would be necessary and that therefore there would be no saving in their salaries. He declared also that the type of men necessary to serve as judges of the proposed county courts could not be secured for $2500 or even $3000 per year. Summing up all expenses that would be possible, as he saw it, under the proposed judiciary, he declared that instead of a saving, the new system would cost $1,188,500 more than the present.

In opposition to the Judiciary Committee report it was suggested that a change might be made in the old system that would meet objections and answer all requirements. This was to provide that the probate judge must be a lawyer and making mandatory the provision in regard to his acting as presiding judge of the county court. Opposition to the judicial council was voiced on the charge that it was usurping the legislative functions which did not belong to the courts. Changes suggested by the committee in giving the legislature power to annul the rules enacted by the council it was not believed would go far in correcting the evils. It was urged that the state of Missouri ought not to be the first to venture on untried fields and that the constitutional convention would me unwise in approving so radical a measure as the proposed council.

Other opposition has been shown to the committee report and also to some features of the amendments proposed. Prospects were that several days would be consumed before the report would be so modified as to meet the aproval of the convention, though several members have spoken in favor of its adoption practically in the form finally agreed upon by a majority of the committee.

The Committee on Counties, Cities and Towns is perfecting its report and to that end the members are meeting every night until it shall be put in form for presentation to the convention. Unusual care is being taken in its phraseology in the hope that few changes will have to be made to make its provisions clear to the convention and to the public.

The Committee on Taxation is spending several evenings in going over the sections of its report which have already been passed on tentatively. While not many changes have been made in the old constitution some of those proposed are quite marked and some of the members of the committee are slow to accept them. It is not unlikely that minority reports will be made to some of the provisions, though an effort is being made to get together on a basis that will make it possible for every member of the committee to stand firmly behind it as the best decument in its judgment that could be worked out to recommend to the convention and to the people. It is evident from watching the committee at work and listening to the discussions that the interest of the taxpayers of the state is given first importance by the members, though there may be differences of opinion as to how those interests will be best conserved.

The Committee on Initiative and Referendum, in making its report to the convention, has filed both majority and minority reports, the latter voicing the sentiment of the chairman of the committee alone. The majority report is in effect the proposal known as No. 232 and differs from the present constitution in but three particulars. The percentage of the voters signing the petition for initiative or referendum is reversed, only five per cent being required to initiate a measure and eight per cent to refer a law passed by the General Assembly. It was felt that a larger number should be required in the latter case. Another point in the proposal is that each signer of any initiative or referendum petition shall write his name and residence on the same line of such petition with his own hand and if unable to write, shall affix his mark and his name and residence shall be written for him and witnessed by two witnesses, who shall write their names and residences on the petition. It is also required that all signers must be registered as voters in places where registration is required.

In the minority report ten per cent of the voters in each of at least two-thirds of the Congressional districts of the state would be required to sign petitions for either the initiative or the referendum. It requires also that the petitions shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the county court in all counties where there is no registration of voters, and elsewhere in the office of the election commissioners or other officers charged with the registration of voters, and each person qualified to do so who desires to sign such petition must sign in the presence of the officers designated, or their deputies, after having satisfied the officer or deputy that they are qualified voters. The same provision is required in regard to signing or affixing the voter's mark in the presence of the officer in charge of the petition. In both the majority and minority reports the provision in the present law is incorporated, referring to measures relating to the immediate preservation of the public peace, health or safety or laws making appropriation for the support of the state government, maintenance of state institutions or support of the public schools, which are now exempted from the referendum.

Maximum Service From Improvements Aim of Highway Commission

"We are anxious to complete the worst parts of the highway first," he stated, "also that the traffic may get maximum service from the improvements, and the heavy fills may become settled thoroughly before the hard surfacing is applied."

News From Over The County

Hopkins Journal

Hopkins is to again have a lyceum course and the first number will be Tuesday night, Oct. 3, when the Imperial Concert Company will appear at the Christian church.

Frank Mahan and wife returned home from the west on the train last Tuesday night. Mrs. Mahan took sick while in Denver and they decided to leave the auto party. Wray and his wife went from Denver to Colorado Springs and will not be home before the last of the week.

The Lucky Bill circus advertised to appear in Hopkins Tuesday of this week failed to reach here and the town is no doubt lucky that the aggregation failed to show up as nothing very elevating could have been expected. The management gave as a reason for not coming that the county license is too high—$25 for each performance and $5 for each side show.

A few loads of New Market coal has found its way to Hopkins, the price being $10 a ton put in your bin, but those who know, say it is not of a quality to make it a profitable investment, the coal being rich in "clinkering" qualities. It costs $6 a ton at the mine and $4 a ton is charged for delivering it. E. C. Melvin was the first to buy it to be delivered by Tim Melvin who has a big truck and delivers a great deal of this coal to nearby towns, Bedford being the biggest consummer of it.

Last Monday Mrs. Chas Booze shipped 200 eggs to Mrs. T. H. Scott of Dilworth, Oklahoma, for setting purpose.

Hobart Collins left last week for Iowa City, Iowa, where he is an instructor in the State university.

There will be seven violins in the orchestra besides the conductor if the present organization remains unchanged. Miss Kibbe has had several years of private work in violin and two years at the State Teachers' College in Violin and Orchestra work.

Fifty Years Ago

(From the files of the Nodaway Democrat, September 26, 1872).

Mr. Thomas Groves has our thanks for some very fine apples.

Judge Parker has good reason to expect large crowds in Nodaway County, as he advertises that he will tell the truth.

Theodore F. Jones has just received a nice lot of goods which he is selling at the lowest prices.

Rev. C. Grimes and Rev. H. D. Groves have been among their friends in Maryville the past week. They are both men of promise in the M. E. Church.

Ben Torrence has placed us under lasting obligations for a box of fine cigars. He has just received the largest lot of cigars of fine quality ever brought West and is ready to accommodate the public both at wholesale and retail.

Persons who desire carriages to call at their houses during the fair week to convey their families to the fair grounds can be accommodated by leaving orders at the National Hotel.

The Greeley and Brown meeting at Barnard last Saturday was well attended. Dr. Ellis was chosen chairman and Capt. R. G. Hubbard secretary. Messrs C. A. Anthony and E. Myers made able speeches which were listened to with much interest.

Mr. A. Harbison has our thanks for some very fine beets.

The locals of Charles Beal in our issue of today will be found of interest.

Nodaway county dirt is surely getting to the front, and the predictions are that it will go higher yet.

The new Avery building, which is one of the handsomest business houses in the city, has so fer approached completion that the tenants of the lower floor, Sawyers & Price, have moved in. The second story will be occupied by the Modern Woodmen lodge, and will be dedicated next week.

Most people were surprised to learn that Howendobler Bros. had sold out and will retire from active business. The new proprietors are Ed G. Orear of St. Louis and Ben F. Henry of Kirksville. Howendobler Bros. was the oldest firm in Maryville, having been engaged continuously in the drug business in this city for the past 33 years.

From the time it commenced raining Monday night until Tuesday noon three and one-half inches had fallen. Mr. Denny, manager of the Maryville Water Co., informed us that the river rose Monday forenoon from 12 to 14 feet in three hours.

MONEY AND MARKETS

BUSINESS CONDITIONS.

The foremost question of the moment is whether the remarkable activity of the midsummer months will be followed by a period of gradually and conservatively increased business or whether it is the forerunner of a period of secondary inflation. The indications point clearly to the conclusion that good business based primarily on domestic requirements is ahead for the autumn months but that inflation in the generally accepted sense will not occur.

Manufacture is on a satisfactory basis, excepting in so far as some industries have suffered from lack of coal and inadequate transportation facilities. Crop yields are excellent for practically all crops except cotton, according to the September estimates, and the forecast is for a cotton crop more than two million bales above that of last year. Unemployment is practically non-existent. Retail and wholesale business in the United States during the autumn will show considerable expansion over that of the corresponding period of 1921.

It must nevertheless be recognized that even though crops are large, dollar wheat, a considerable decline in the price of hogs since the first of June, and relatively low prices of other agricultural products have reduced the purchasing power of the farmer. The situation is similar in respect to other important classes of raw materials. These conditions and the fact that not far from one million men were continuously out of work as a result of strikes during the greater part of the summer, are major factors which have effectively blocked inflation at this time. Business is being booked for requirements of the immediate future and forward buying is cautious. Good business is assured, but it is not reasonable to expect a boom.

Conditions abroad and the state of the exchanges are not such as to encourage any idea that there is to be any large increase in European business in the nea rfuture. Exports from the United States to countries where general business shows improvement, such as Australia, the leading South American countries, Central America and the West Indies will probably increase somewhat but these countries are primarily dependent on conditions in the international market for raw materials, chiefly agricultural, and their inhabitants are therefore in a position differing in no important way from that of the American farmer. They will unquestionably buy more freely than they bought last year, but not extravagantly.

It may well be that prices in some lines may continue to tend upward as price and wage adjustment proceeds but any rapid general upward tendency in the prices of goods ready for the ultimate consumer would be checked by unwillingness and inability on the part of purchasers throughout the world to follow up the market. Manufacturers and merchants will still find it essential to pursue a policy of careful and economical operation, for the best prospect of profits lies not in rapidly rising prices but in operating efficiency and gradually expanding volume of business.

MONEY RATES.

The probable course of money rates during the next few months must be judged in connection with several factors, namely, the degree of activity in general business, the course of government refunding operations, the amount of slack present in the lending capacity of the individual banks of the country and the change in the effect of crop-moving requirements on the money situation by reason of the operations of the Federal Reserve system.

One of the prime purposes of the establishment of the Federal Reserve system was to overcome the seasonal stringency which prior to that time had been a characteristic of the money market of this country. The abnormal business conditions which prevailed from the autumn of 1914 until midsummer of 1921 made it impossible to judge with any accuracy the probable effectiveness of the system in sfabilizing the money market through the crop-moving season. During the autumn months of 1921 the dominant factor in the money market was the rapid liquidation of loans as a result of the general business readjustments then in progress. The current season is the first since the passage of the Federal reserve act when the machinery then established has had the opportunity to function under reasonably normal conditions. It is nevertheless noteworthy that although large crops were moved very rapidly during the fall months of 1921, the resultant demand for money did not check the steady decline in money rates.

V.F.W. MEN ACCOMPANY MRS. SLATTIN TO CONCEPT. JCT.

Motor Cars Were Taken Overland and Party Arrived in Maryville in Time for Funeral

Members of the Seth Ray David Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, had a busy day yesterday and did some commendable work as their last duties to a comrade.

A party left Maryville early yesterday morning for the home of A. M. Slattin, who died Thursday. They accompanied the body to Burlington Junction where it was to be placed on the train and shipped to Des Moines for burial. When the men got to Burlington Junction they saw that Mrs. Slattin would have the trip from Burlington Junction to Conception Junction and a transfer there and a wait all by herself, as no one from Burlington Junction was going with her. Accordingly about ten of the boys got on the train and went to Conception Junction with the body and Mrs. Slattin. They assisted her in making the change and saw that she got with a relative who was coming up from Kansas City to attend the funeral. The boys also wired to the American Legion post at her home town asking that the members extend to Mrs. Slattin such courtesies as it was possible for them to do.

Those of the party who did not go from Burlington Junction on the train went overland in the motor cars and brought the party back from Conception Junction, getting it to Maryville in time to attend the funeral of Mrs. W. A. Burris.

Following are the men who made the trips:

CHARLEY NEAL HAS SOME HUGE APPLES AT HIS FARM

From fifty to fifty-five apples to the bushel. This is the number that it takes from a tree on the farm of Charles Neal who lives a quarter of a mile east and a quarter of a mile south of Workman Chapel. They are red and have a little the appearance of a strawberry. He says, however, that he does not know what kind they are. They were on the farm twenty-five years ago when he bought it. The tree has about ten bushels on it and he has been feeding them to the hogs. They were so large that he put twenty-seven of them in a box that held about half a bushel and brought them to Maryville today. The box was full.
